Clothes Swap

Swap the clothes you've fallen out of love with for clothes you want to wear now.

The LA swap is powered by Swap Society, an online clothing swap that makes it fun, easy and affordable to mix up your wardrobe in a sustainable way. Swap Society uses a points system so you get equal value for what you bring in. Plus, any leftover points can be used later on swapsociety.co.

Film Screenings

Made in America is the latest installment of Remake's "Made In" video series. The film humanizes the makers behind Made in USA clothing labels and inspires consumers and designers to use fashion as a force for good.

10 Ways to Dress Like a Sustainable Fashion Pro, made in partnership with Role Models Management, shows the many ways you can engage in a sustainable lifestyle and create a sustainable wardrobe.

Panel Discussion: Fashion & Human Rights

This panel will focus on the human rights abuses that are pervasive in the fashion industry and share ways to advocate for a system that does more good for women.

Panelists include Elisha Chan, Executive Director of Fair Trade LA, Remake Ambassador Rebecca Blake Thompson, and likely someone from the Garment Workers Center and/or Yeni from the film Made in America. Moderated by Swap Society Founder Nicole Robertson.

Panel Discussion: Fashion & The Environment

This panel will focus on the environmental impacts of the fashion industry from greenhouse gas emissions, to water pollution, to waste, and offer practical solutions for the future.

Moderated by Bonnie Wright and Georgia Stockwell of Waste Watch LA. Panel to include Swap Society Founder Nicole Robertson, rest of panel TBD.

Workshops

- Fashion therapy with Stephanie Gisondi
